Production Introduction:

Feldspathic veneers have been made popular by patients for their non-invasive preparation requirements, and their ability to allow the existing tooth shades to shine through. This hand-crafted veneer is created with artistry by use of a brush and glass-based powder mixed with liquid. To fabricate feldspathic veneers, the technician hand paints the veneer layer by layer so contour and texture can be controlled and crafted. The technicians at China Digital Lab have the experience necessary to craft highly esthetic veneers that will fit every patient's cosmetic needs and desires. Our veneers are excellent cosmetic solutions in cases of chipped, discolored, or gapped teeth.
